Dear Mr. Hollon:—

I received your invitation to contribute to your special "Home Coming" number too late to reply in time for that issue. However I still have the matter in mind and having received your second communication, I am now responding.

When I heard from Miss Virginia Day that the Herald had been resurrected, I was much pleased and when I received a sample copy and subsequent numbers, I was delighted to find that a real home on their having such a well equipped young man for this work who has undoubtedly the welfare of the people at heart.

Your advice to the farmers I consider excellent. As the past twenty three years of my life have been spent in the army, I suppose that advice from me to the farmers of your section could not have much weight.

There is a custom (or used to be at least) that does not appeal to me as a farmer. That is that most of the people there go in for raising corn to the exclusion of vegetables and other profitable crops. I have known men to devote the entire season to raising a crop of corn and then feed it out to old broken down, "sore backed" horses before Christmas. Now as this war has been thrust upon us, everything edible that can be grown in your mountain soil will bring "war prices" and due to your location and more especially to the fact that the population there consists of real true blue Americans there will be no danger of losing your produce from hostile sources.

Now, Mr. Editor, altho I have never had the pleasure of your acquaintance, your name is a sufficient recommendation to me as the older set of Hollons I remember as being very excellent people. This includes cousin "Monk" of course.

It was certainly a happy thought to republish the "Happenings in and around Hazel Green thirty years ago." These items appeal to me particularly as I was at that time a pupil at the Academy. I would occasionally "sweat" ink for Col. Cooper—(God bless him) on press days and incidentally have an excellent meal prepared by Mrs. Cooper—(God bless her also.)

I have always regretted that I did not have a personal acquaintance with "Uncle Sam Wilson." I have followed his career with increasing interest for years. Try to cheer him up a little as his verses are running dangerously near to tombstones recently.

As our censorship is now working overtime, I shall not attempt to give you any war news. A description of our beautiful little island would probably not be of any particular interest to your readers.

As for myself, I have been successful in my profession. In addition to my very rapid promotion, I have accumulated (now don't be misled) a wife and five boys ranging in age from ten years to five months.

With best regards and good wishes for all my friends and relatives in the mountains of Kentucky and trusting that the Herald may always continue as valuable as it is at present,

I am yours for success,

M. K. Tannabee.

April 24, 1917

Dear Mr. Hollon and family:—

As we are away up here in Letcher Co. and see nothing except coal and hardly get to see any one except miners we want the Herald changed from Jackson to Mater, Ky. I wrote Mrs. Day and asked her to tell you to change it before I came up here, but guess she forgot to tell you. I have misread three copies and we certainly have misread it too.

With best regards to all,

I remain,

Mrs. Asa J. Wren.

While dining at my club one evening recently, says Harry Payne Whitney, millionaire and clubman, "I observed that my order of oysters on the half-shell was not complete when set before me. There were but eleven of the bivalves, instead of the dozen ordered. I had noticed that my waiter, an Irishman, was a new-comer, and I decided to let the matter pass.

"The following evening, however exactly the same thing occurred and I became a trifle impatient. Beckoning to the fellow, I said:

"See here! What do you mean by bringing me eleven oysters when I ordered twelve? This is the second time this thing has happened, and as I dine at this club considerably, I would like to understand the idea!"

"I risked being thirteen at the table sir."

Must Live Within Their Incomes.

In the future counties must live within their incomes. The Court of Appeals in the case of Nelson county against Less McCrocklin overruled previous decisions, under which counties had disregarded fixed expenses, like salaries, in estimating the amount of indebtedness they could incur, and held that in the future counties are bound under Section 157, of the Constitution, forbidding the indebtedness contracted in a year to exceed the income; to deduct from the estimated revenues these fixed expenses to find how much indebtedness may be incurred, and if through eventualities, the income in any year does not cover the expenses, that debt must be counted in the standing expenses for the following year until it is paid.

A Courtesy You Owe.

The nicest courtesy you can show your guests is to have their visits mentioned in these pages. The nicest courtesy you can show your friends is to let them learn of your visits through these pages whenever you go away. And we will consider it a courtesy whenever you give us an item of any kind.

Urge Kaiser to Abdicate.

Rome, April 24, (via Paris)—The Corriere d'Italia, the Clerical organ, declares that it is able to confirm reports, published in the Spanish newspapers, that the immediate following of the German emperor is exerting pressure on him to abdicate. The paper says that at a recent meeting of the Hohenzollern family one member, bolder than the rest, intimated that the emperor might save the situation by following the example of the Emperor Nicholas.

The German monarch is reported to have turned pale and after observing that the general opinion was against him left the room muttering: "We shall see."

The same evening he summoned another family council. The chancellor and some of the ministers

GREATER and BETTER SUNDAY SCHOOLS for a GREATER and BETTER KENTUCKY

"Go-to-Sunday-School Day"

were present, but whatever passed remains unknown. Little importance is attached to this story in Italian political circles. In these quarters it is thought that the story has a German origin and is put out with the intention of influencing public opinion.

Believe "It Pays."

The Sears-Roebuck Co. have just closed a contract for 12,900 tons or 240,000,000 pounds of catalog paper for their 1917 trade. This paper alone figured at 2 cents per pound, which is probably far less than it costs them, means an outlay of $4,800,000 for paper alone. Add to this the cost of getting out the catalog and the mailing of same and it will make an enormous sum this one firm is spending to get business that should and would go to country merchant if these merchants would apply some of the business methods used by this big mail order house. The country merchant can not issue his catalog and then expect his goods to prospective customers each week by using the columns of this paper.

Binds Unhealthy to the Healthy

The fly has no equal as a germ "carrier," as many as five hundred million germs have been found in and on the body of a single fly. It is definitely known that the fly is the "carrier" of the typhoid fever; it is widely believed that it is also the "carrier" of other diseases, including possibly infantile paralysis.

The very presence of a fly is a signal and notification that a housekeeper is uncleanly and inefficient.

Do not wait until the insects begin to pester; anticipate the annoyance.

April, May and June are the best months to conduct an anti-fly campaign.

The farming and suburban districts provide ideal breeding places, and the new born flies do not remain at their birthplace but migrate, using railroads and other means of transportation, to other towns and cities.

Commissioner's Sale.

WOLFE CIRCUIT COURT.

S. P. Howe, Committee & Plaintiff, vs. Daisy Napier, Defendant.

BY VIRTUE OF A JUDGMENT and Order of Sale of the Wolfe Circuit Court, entered at its February term, 1917, in the above styled cause, I, as Master Commissioner of said Court, will, on the 7th DAY OF MAY, 1917,

between the hours of 1 o'clock and 4 o'clock p. m., expose for sale to the highest and best bidder, the one third undivided interest of Daisy Napier subject to the life estate of Jennie Lacy, and her assignee, J. C. Napier, said sale will be made on a credit of six months, and the purchaser will be required to give personal surety with one or more persons acceptable to the Commissioner, and a lien will be retained on the land for the purchase price of same.

Said land, or the whole of the same, is described as follows: Situated in Wolfe county, Kentucky, and on the waters of Swift Camp creek, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the old S. P. Howe shop house on the west side of the county road leading from Campton to Devil's creek at where John G. Lacy now lives, and on the line of S. P. Howe, thence with the line of S. P. Howe, thence with the line of B. L. Tyler, thence with the line of R. L. Tyler to the land line of the land formerly owned by Z. T. Hurst, now owned by B. F. Bowling, thence with his line to the W. M. Bumgarner line, thence with the said Bumgarner line to the S. P. Howe line, now the W. T. Tyler line, thence with his line to the line of S. P. Howe, and with his line to the beginning.

All bidders will be prepared to comply with the terms of sale on said date. Given under my hand this 17th day of April, 1917.

J. L. HORTON,
Master Com. Wolfe Circuit Court.

HAZEL GREEN HERALD,
HAZEL GREEN, KY.

No Place For Rubbish.

There is no place in a pretty village such as ours for rubbish piles or "dump" piles as they are sometimes called. They mar the looks of a town more than one would imagine until one visits a strange town and finds these piles of rubbish. They are far more noticeable to us in another town than in our own, for here, knowing where they are and accustomed to passing them every day, we soon cease to notice them. Strangers notice them, however, and that is what we don't want. It is true we wish strangers to remember our town, but on account of its extreme neatness, not on account of its filth and neglect. "Dump" piles not only mar the looks of a town, but they render it unhealthy. If the national government can be said to have a "hobby," its present hobby is to destroy all unsanitary conditions existing in our country. It would be a good thing if the town government would adopt this same hobby. We would arouse our health officers. They, poor men, have struggled against such great odds for so long that they have almost given up the fight. Abolish rubbish piles and all such other traps of disease and you will find that the sick list in our town will greatly diminish.

Kill Flies and Save Lives.

Kill at once every fly you can find and burn his body.

Observers say that there are many reasons to believe there will be more flies this season than for a number of years.

The killing of just one fly now means there will be millions and trillions less next summer.

Clean up your own premises; see and insist that your neighbors do likewise.

Especially clean "out-of-the-way" places and every nook and cranny.

Flies will not go where there is nothing to eat, and their principal diet is too filthy to mention.
